

"This is the TIME for women to rise up, to echo each other's voices, to live their truth with no apologies. This is the TIME and all that you have to do is just to BE true to yourself fully. Lead with joy and love and not with fear and jealousy."

ZAINAB SALBI

Founder, Women for Women International day

three

AMY CHUA (top left)
Professor of Law, Yale Law School

"The decline of religion in the western world suggests that we must create contemporary ways to regain our spirituality. We live in a noisy society with many distractions. It's becoming more and more challenging for traditional channels to resonate."

TONIA O'CONNOR (above)
President, Distribution Sales & Marketing, Univision

"So I am grateful for all my misfortunes from being displaced from my home country Iraq to being violated by abusive people, and I am equally grateful for my fortunes of seeing the world in its roundness from sadness to joy, from generosity to hostility... the process made me believe that love truly prevails after all."

ZAINAB SALBI

TONIA O'CONNOR

"My dad, who's my role model, always told me, 'Invent your own field, have your own ideas, and don't care what people think.' And if you ever find yourself having to suck up to someone, you know you're in trouble."

AMY CHUA

