Reclaiming our Power to Choose

2022 Impact Summary

Our 2022 Financials

Total Revenue $24,586,436
Total Expenses $23,526,361
Net Surplus $1,060,075

Our funding model leverages more than $25,000,000 in assets, enabling us to reach more than 660,000 participants each year. Our funding is made up of grants from major funding partners and contributions from individuals, foundations, and corporations. We continue to invest in our infrastructure to ensure we have the necessary tools and data to engage women in the embedded technology and social norms that we see.

"Supporting women to increase their knowledge, competence, and independence, thereby providing services for their families, is the most important challenge for a woman." - Nancy Geng, Senior Director

Ukrainian Women are Finding Strength in Unity

Since Russia invaded Ukraine in February 2022, women have been at the forefront of the resistance. Women are bearing the brunt of the humanitarian and economic consequences of the conflict. In addition to their roles as caregivers and providers, women are now on the front lines. To address the needs of these women, we worked closely with major WFWI partners in Poland and Romania to provide psychological, emotional, and practical support. We also worked with local organizations to ensure that women had access to essential resources, such as food and shelter. The response to support women survivors of war, women running away from war, and women facing economic hardship was overwhelming. The conflict has exposed women’s vulnerabilities and the need for support and resources. Women are breaking through their struggles and overcoming their challenges.

"Thanks to Women for Women International and its partners, we were able to secure a temporary place of residence. We were in a new country, new language. None of us could speak a word of Polish. It was overwhelming." - Natasza, Participant in Poland

Act with Afghan Women

Since Taliban forces took control of Afghanistan in August 2021, women have faced immense challenges. They are experiencing a host of rights and respecting principles that are unacceptable from public life. WFWI has been in touch with many of our Afghan beneficiaries to understand their needs. We are working to get our education, work, and support where they are needed. We are working closely with our partners in Afghanistan to provide essential support, including providing medical care and funding women’s businesses, which provide employment opportunities and income for families.

And we’re Women for Women International have not given up our goal supporting them in this time. We have taken additional steps to support women’s rights in this context. We have worked closely with our partners in Afghanistan to provide essential support, including funding medical care and funding women’s businesses, which provide employment opportunities and income for families.

"In August 2021, the world watched in horror as Taliban forces took control of Kabul, our home. We were shock when we got the news. We knew the future was uncertain, but we were also hopeful that changes were coming. We were determined to keep fighting for our rights and our future. We are proud to be part of this movement and to continue to fight for our rights and our future." - Sahra, Participant in Afghanistan

Funding doesn’t solve the problem. Change happens through the power of women’s voices.

Our 2022 Financials

Total Revenue $24,586,436
Total Expenses $23,526,361
Net Surplus $1,060,075

Our funding model leverages more than $25,000,000 in assets, enabling us to reach more than 660,000 participants each year. Our funding is made up of grants from major funding partners and contributions from individuals, foundations, and corporations. We continue to invest in our infrastructure to ensure we have the necessary tools and data to engage women in the embedded technology and social norms that we see.

"Supporting women to increase their knowledge, competence, and independence, thereby providing services for their families, is the most important challenge for a woman." - Nancy Geng, Senior Director

Ukrainian Women are Finding Strength in Unity

Since Russia invaded Ukraine in February 2022, women have been at the forefront of the resistance. Women are bearing the brunt of the humanitarian and economic consequences of the conflict. In addition to their roles as caregivers and providers, women are now on the front lines. To address the needs of these women, we worked closely with major WFWI partners in Poland and Romania to provide psychological, emotional, and practical support. We also worked with local organizations to ensure that women had access to essential resources, such as food and shelter. The response to support women survivors of war, women running away from war, and women facing economic hardship was overwhelming. The conflict has exposed women’s vulnerabilities and the need for support and resources. Women are breaking through their struggles and overcoming their challenges.

"Thanks to Women for Women International and its partners, we were able to secure a temporary place of residence. We were in a new country, new language. None of us could speak a word of Polish. It was overwhelming." - Natasza, Participant in Poland

Act with Afghan Women

Since Taliban forces took control of Afghanistan in August 2021, women have faced immense challenges. They are experiencing a host of rights and respecting principles that are unacceptable from public life. WFWI has been in touch with many of our Afghan beneficiaries to understand their needs. We are working to get our education, work, and support where they are needed. We are working closely with our partners in Afghanistan to provide essential support, including providing medical care and funding women’s businesses, which provide employment opportunities and income for families.

And we’re Women for Women International have not given up our goal supporting them in this time. We have taken additional steps to support women’s rights in this context. We have worked closely with our partners in Afghanistan to provide essential support, including funding medical care and funding women’s businesses, which provide employment opportunities and income for families.

"In August 2021, the world watched in horror as Taliban forces took control of Kabul, our home. We were shock when we got the news. We knew the future was uncertain, but we were also hopeful that changes were coming. We were determined to keep fighting for our rights and our future. We are proud to be part of this movement and to continue to fight for our rights and our future." - Sahra, Participant in Afghanistan

Funding doesn’t solve the problem. Change happens through the power of women’s voices.

Our 2022 Financials

Total Revenue $24,586,436
Total Expenses $23,526,361
Net Surplus $1,060,075

Our funding model leverages more than $25,000,000 in assets, enabling us to reach more than 660,000 participants each year. Our funding is made up of grants from major funding partners and contributions from individuals, foundations, and corporations. We continue to invest in our infrastructure to ensure we have the necessary tools and data to engage women in the embedded technology and social norms that we see.

"Supporting women to increase their knowledge, competence, and independence, thereby providing services for their families, is the most important challenge for a woman." - Nancy Geng, Senior Director

Ukrainian Women are Finding Strength in Unity

Since Russia invaded Ukraine in February 2022, women have been at the forefront of the resistance. Women are bearing the brunt of the humanitarian and economic consequences of the conflict. In addition to their roles as caregivers and providers, women are now on the front lines. To address the needs of these women, we worked closely with major WFWI partners in Poland and Romania to provide psychological, emotional, and practical support. We also worked with local organizations to ensure that women had access to essential resources, such as food and shelter. The response to support women survivors of war, women running away from war, and women facing economic hardship was overwhelming. The conflict has exposed women’s vulnerabilities and the need for support and resources. Women are breaking through their struggles and overcoming their challenges.

"Thanks to Women for Women International and its partners, we were able to secure a temporary place of residence. We were in a new country, new language. None of us could speak a word of Polish. It was overwhelming." - Natasza, Participant in Poland

Act with Afghan Women

Since Taliban forces took control of Afghanistan in August 2021, women have faced immense challenges. They are experiencing a host of rights and respecting principles that are unacceptable from public life. WFWI has been in touch with many of our Afghan beneficiaries to understand their needs. We are working to get our education, work, and support where they are needed. We are working closely with our partners in Afghanistan to provide essential support, including providing medical care and funding women’s businesses, which provide employment opportunities and income for families.

And we’re Women for Women International have not given up our goal supporting them in this time. We have taken additional steps to support women’s rights in this context. We have worked closely with our partners in Afghanistan to provide essential support, including funding medical care and funding women’s businesses, which provide employment opportunities and income for families.

"In August 2021, the world watched in horror as Taliban forces took control of Kabul, our home. We were shock when we got the news. We knew the future was uncertain, but we were also hopeful that changes were coming. We were determined to keep fighting for our rights and our future. We are proud to be part of this movement and to continue to fight for our rights and our future." - Sahra, Participant in Afghanistan

Funding doesn’t solve the problem. Change happens through the power of women’s voices.
Our Programs

Changing the World, One Woman at a Time

2022 has been marked by a rise in conflict and crises, making it a year in which women's rights have been under assault around the world. Across the globe, women and girls face a range of challenges, including violence, exploitation, and the effects of war.

Despite these challenges, your generosity has enabled us to reach 55,631 women survivors of violence and forced marriage in 2022. From Kenya to South Sudan, women have shared their stories, increasing awareness of the risks to their rights.

We are proud to announce that we have supported women and girls in 20 countries in 2022, with a total of 31,821 women served in 2022. Our programs have helped women and girls to regain their strength and rebuild their lives.

Your Impact

- 31,821 women served in 2022
- 93% report increased income
- 196% increase in women’s strength
- 84% report increased savings and financial security
- 114% report increased mobility and increased ability to reach goals
- 69% report increased household food and household security

2022 Global Highlights

- Partnership with The Andrew Foundation’s Luminaries Initiative to support women leaders in the arts and culture
- Partnership with Her Majesty Queen Mathilde of Belgium and the Belgian Women’s Foundation to support women entrepreneurs in Belgium
- Partnership with Minea Foundations, Swedbank, and the United Nations Foundation to support vulnerable women in Ukraine
- Partnership with Fundación Banamex and the Global Fund to support vulnerable women in Mexico
- Partnership with The Andrew Foundation’s Luminaries Initiative to support women leaders in the arts and culture

Responding to Emerging Conflicts

- When war breaks out, women often suffer the most. Our programs are designed to provide support to women affected by conflict, helping them to rebuild their lives and find hope for the future.

Stranger Women Stranger Nations Program (SWSNP)

In 2022, our programs in Afghanistan saw increased requests for support, as women and girls faced new challenges in their daily lives. Our programs provided a safe space for women to seek help and find hope, offering them a chance to rebuild their lives and find a future.

Advisory

In 2022, our advisory board was active, providing guidance and support to our programs around the world. Their expertise and wisdom helped us to make decisions that were in the best interests of the women and girls we serve.

Advocacy

In 2022, our advocacy efforts continued, with campaigns focused on ending violence against women and girls, increasing awareness of the risks they face, and advocating for policy changes that will help to protect them.

Migrant Women’s Engagement Program (MWP)

In 2022, we worked with migrant women to help them overcome barriers to entry in the workforce and achieve economic independence. Our programs helped women to access education and training, and to find employment opportunities.

Responding to Emerging Conflicts

- When war breaks out, women often suffer the most. Our programs are designed to provide support to women affected by conflict, helping them to rebuild their lives and find hope for the future.

Syria

As the war in Syria continues, our programs provide support to women and girls who have been affected by the conflict. Our programs offer a safe space for them to seek help and find hope, offering them a chance to rebuild their lives and find a future.

Nigeria

In 2022, our programs continued to support women affected by violence in Nigeria. Our programs offer a safe space for them to seek help and find hope, offering them a chance to rebuild their lives and find a future.

South Sudan

In 2022, our programs continued to support women affected by violence in South Sudan. Our programs offer a safe space for them to seek help and find hope, offering them a chance to rebuild their lives and find a future.

Afghanistan

After 20 years of war, we are glad to report that our programs are still providing support to women and girls in Afghanistan. Our programs offer a safe space for them to seek help and find hope, offering them a chance to rebuild their lives and find a future.

Estonia

In 2022, our programs continued to support women affected by violence in Estonia. Our programs offer a safe space for them to seek help and find hope, offering them a chance to rebuild their lives and find a future.

Myanmar

In 2022, our programs continued to support women affected by violence in Myanmar. Our programs offer a safe space for them to seek help and find hope, offering them a chance to rebuild their lives and find a future.

2022 Global Highlights

- Partnership with The Andrew Foundation’s Luminaries Initiative to support women leaders in the arts and culture
- Partnership with Her Majesty Queen Mathilde of Belgium and the Belgian Women’s Foundation to support women entrepreneurs in Belgium
- Partnership with Minea Foundations, Swedbank, and the United Nations Foundation to support vulnerable women in Ukraine
- Partnership with Fundación Banamex and the Global Fund to support vulnerable women in Mexico
- Partnership with The Andrew Foundation’s Luminaries Initiative to support women leaders in the arts and culture

Your Impact

- 31,821 women served in 2022
- 93% report increased income
- 196% increase in women’s strength
- 84% report increased savings and financial security
- 114% report increased mobility and increased ability to reach goals
- 69% report increased household food and household security

2022 Global Highlights

- Partnership with The Andrew Foundation’s Luminaries Initiative to support women leaders in the arts and culture
- Partnership with Her Majesty Queen Mathilde of Belgium and the Belgian Women’s Foundation to support women entrepreneurs in Belgium
- Partnership with Minea Foundations, Swedbank, and the United Nations Foundation to support vulnerable women in Ukraine
- Partnership with Fundación Banamex and the Global Fund to support vulnerable women in Mexico
- Partnership with The Andrew Foundation’s Luminaries Initiative to support women leaders in the arts and culture